The 65th anniversary of Jesuit Volunteer Corps Northwest saw Jesuit Volunteers and JV EnCorps members responding to local community needs in life-changing ways. The values-centered impact JVC Northwest has on communities and our volunteers would not be possible without the hard work, kindness, and generosity of our donors, staff, alumni, and supporters.

Community Perspectives

Jesuit Volunteer:

“Through various opportunities such as retreats, JVC Northwest actively invited us to find ways to participate in self-reflection throughout the year. I was able to find invaluable moments of self-growth, empowerment, and belonging in and outside of service.”

-Ben Pham (Gresham, OR)

JV EnCorps:

“Through my association with the food pantry, I also participate in food preparation and delivery to shelters and those with food insecurity . . . [In my JVE cohort’s presence,] I came to the realization that if I pursue it, that wonderful depth of spirituality is available to me too.”

-Sheryl Carrubba (Portland, OR)

Donor:

“My wife and I are big fans of JVC Northwest, and we give annually to the organization to honor the Yup’ik community of western Alaska . . . We give to honor the corporal works of mercy.”

-David Zwaschka
